THE STANDARD.

NIL FALSI AUDEAM. NIL VERI NON "AUDEAM DICERE". (Cicero.)

THURSDAY, the AUGUST 1868.

HURRAH FOR THE CAPITAL.

PAVON ECLIPSED.

THE "STANDARD" TRIUMPHANT.

The capital question has passed another ordeal. After a fierce opposition, reason has prevailed, and three-fifths of the National Deputies have decided, with us, that the Republic can have no capital but Buenos Ayres. We have combatted, single handed, the local prejudices impersonated by the "Tribuna" National, and "Revista" we have left the neutral ground of foreign society, and taken a leading part in the resolution of a matter which affects all of us so sensibly. Is it strange that we should congratulate ourselves on the triumphant success of our efforts?

This is certainly a rare occurrence; that the National Legislature, both Senators and Deputies, should confirm the views of a Foreign journal, showing our native colleagues the error of their ways. If we indulge in the selfish gratification of a passing triumph, which proves Mr. Billinghurst's assertion, that "we are the only true exponent of public opinion," it is because we anticipate that the happiness of the Republic is identified with such victory. The spontaneous ebullition of popular rejoicing at the news of the passing of this measure which was represented as an encroachment on the rights of Buenos Ares, is a magnificent testimony both to the patriotic disinterestedness of the citizens, and to the accuracy of our ideas.

It cannot be denied that Government showed anything but firmness, and that the Ministers refused, to throw out either of the projects before the House, was little calculated to strengthen its party. Under these circumstances we are glad that the last bill has not been carried, as the present decision may be regarded more as the free opinion of Congress, than any measure of the Executive. In a recent impression, we doubted that the 2d project, which was a concession to the opposition could command a majority, and the issue has justified our expectations.

The federalization scheme must now pass to the Provincial Legislature, which Dr. Marmol calls the Cellular of opposition; but it seems the surrender will be as tame as was that made to the British, of the famous fortress. At least, we hear grave doubts whether the local legislators have the courage, or wish to put a veto to the National councils, assembled in this law, which has had an overpowering majority in both Chambers of Congress.

The tenor of the bill is to suppress the legislature of B. Ayres, for a term of three years, federalize the whole province, make this city temporary capital, postpone the appointment of a governor until next year, place local institutions under the care of the seven municipalities, and entrust the interests of the province to the immediate care of Congress.

Congress—Deputies.

The Chamber met yesterday at 1-40. The several projects of law finishing the National Debt &c. &c., always passed by the Senate were first read. The Chairman having passed to the order of the day, the bill for Capitalizing the city was read, after which the decision of the three commissioners, in favor of accepting the bill of federalisation, passed by the Senate, was advocated by Sor Elizalde as follows.

The committee has handed in two decisions.—There is but one point of difference between us all agree on the necessity of placing the National authorities in this city. Some prefer, for this purpose federalizing the whole province, others capitalizing only the municipal city. Our object is avowedly to create a strong Government; military and tyranny such as has been alleged, but strong in the security of law and order. We think the federalization a safer plan—not that it is impossible to divide the province, but that we see serious difficulties in the formation of a provincial Legislature in the campagna of Buenos Ayres. The plan proposed by Government is not the idea of Rivadavia, who federalized completely the city and municipality of Buenos Ayres. Let the first project be sent down to the Provincial Chambers they cannot accuse us of an usurpation, since we leave it entirely to their decision. I therefore beg of this Chamber to sanction the federalization bill.

Sor Marmol said, I refuse to consider the project now presented by Government until I know whether the federalization scheme is one or dies. If there is a majority in its favor, we would not lose time in discussing any thing else. If it be beaten then we know better our course—I call on the Government for explanation. Does the Government reject the federalization, as it has promised to advocate the capitalization, which implies hostility to all other projects?

Dr. Costa said. Neither of the projects is perfect, we will accept whichever is preferred by the Chambers.

Sor Marmol—Then I will vote against both.

Dr. Costa said—The Government will not advocated the plan of federalization as the safest. It will be remembered that SS. Marmol and Gorostiaga opposed the assembling of Congress in Buenos Ayres, with a guessing at a number of projects was first started some proposed Ensenada, others San Nicolas, San Fernando, &c. In this manner public opinion was divided, till at length Government proposed in the Senate the federalization of the municipality of the capital. Opposition, for a time hid its head, but a heated discussion was raised in this Chamber, while the whole voice of the people was in favor of fixing the capital in this city. Government has acted with perfect consistency, in working afterwards to improve on the original project by such as the capital permanent, inhabitants and Congress. I combat some of our opponents by leaving the Provincial Legislature in existence to remove its seat of authority to Villa Silvedes, San Nicolas or San Pedro. We contend now on the support of those who advocated federalization, by leaving the National Executive sufficient elements of power in the seat of the federal Legislature in these so far refined I regard even those who oppose us as friends to the Government, and so give the hasty expressions compromising us with friends, which were not justified by any reasonable arguments.

Dr. Obligado proposed to vote on the federalization question at once.

Dr. Granel begged to state that he would vote against both projects.

The vote was then put.

Ayes 20—Noes 15.

The 1st Art. was then placed in particular discussion.

Ayes 22—Noes 13.

The articles from 2 to 15 inclusive were passed without discussion, the vote being

Ayes 21—Noes 14.

The session then rose, amid loud and continued applause.

The Municipality at the Bar.

The Revista, yesterday, charges us with falsely alarming the citizens, and contradicts our assertion as to the daily mortality at present. We should be most happy indeed to find that we were mistaken, but we want some other statistics than the returns of bygone years, to disprove our article.

We cannot convict ourselves of gratuitously exaggerating the number of funerals, since we affirmed only what we were assured of, by a gentleman who, being almost the sole medical attendant in the Retiro, has an opportunity of counting funeral by funeral as they pass. Our friend may have made some mistake, but we gave the information for what it was worth, and no more.

It would be difficult, however, for the Revista, with all its popularity, to make people believe that at present there is not a great increase both of sickness and mortality in this city; the hospitals are full; not a square in town but the doctors are seen visiting; the apothecaries have extra hands employed; the coffin-makers are working night and day, and the undertakers have their rooms filled with professional tears, from morning till night.

Supposing, even, that 60 or 70 deaths per day is an exaggerated figure, can it be denied that the mortality is not double the ordinary average? If the deaths are only 10 and 12 a day, why not disprove our assertion by the returns of the sextons? We repeat it, again and again, the sanitary regulations in this city are scandalous in the extreme; and if the mortality in the middle of winter is so great, how much, may we ask, will it be in the heats of summer?

It is a forlorn hope, to think that we shall ever get the Municipality to give us sewers or clean water: there seems to exist too much rivalry as to who shall get the job, and no matter how cheap or sensible the project may be, there are so many private objections urged that it is perfectly hopeless to obtain a majority either on Committee or at public session.

We remark this Municipality for wilful neglect, of the trusts reposed in them; we charge them with leaving the streets in such a state, that the fires of the inhabitants are daily being endangered—we accuse them of wilful procrastination in measures which have been long title brought before them; we assert that the stagnant pools of corruption and decomposed matter are highly pestiferous, and we call upon the police to make a move in the matter before summer sets in.

The "Revista" stands out as the champion of this corporation. Answer us, then, why is it that this City can have no sewerage: why is it that the corporation does not accept some of the proposals already sent in. Every clean water to the inhabitants. He cannot; and the public may as well know, once and for all, that the most useless institution amongst us, is the Municipality of Buenos Ayres.

Cañuelas.

Dear Sir—

As I told you before, the president and aldermen were thankful for your offer to publish whatever they required, relating to the church, and, as a beginning, would send you a list of those who subscribed, but I found out lately, that their treasurer said it was not right that an English paper should publish it before the Spanish paper (Tribuna).

The walls of the church are nearly as high as they have to go, and Mr Allen is in town, with his plans, waiting Government liberality, before proceeding with the roof, &c., &c.

Horned cattle are still dying, although the weather is very favourable for the camp. As yet carcases worn face Flores road, which is a great drawback on commerce here, as we have to pay double freight to get them to market on our point, so as to produce to the market.

I have been conversing with a man from outside the Salado, who told me that they are, and have been drawing water during the winter, for cattle, in that direction [Las Flores]

Yours, J. G.

Cañuelas, August 15

Emmigration.

QUOT HOMINES TOT SENTENTIÆ.

Observing that the above all-important item is still under process of veneration, I just throw in a line or two, to induce some one of more competence to deal with it. As to the peasantry of Basques &c they are always welcome, as persevering countrymen, & hoes and sickle for the labour market. If fearful misery existed, in Australia, under the guidance of an enlightened Government, what might we expect here when the Government seems perfectly indifferent on the question of immigration. As to my friend "Dick", on "change" in the columns of your popular journal, I am glad to see you with handing his recent tete a tete with the loyal body of washerwomen) that "Richard" is himself again. That Dick should consider the above powerful brigade as only worthy of my ridicule is (on his part) a clear delusion—as there is no one—not even Dick himself, sympathises more deeply with the owner of a buttonless shirt than I do. Dick must not fight me with my own weapons. When a tradesman leaves his trade for agricultural pursuits, he comes principally within my argument—viz, all men of industry, who wish to work, and be always absorbed in the daily growing staple trade of the country—active, farming. On reading "Dick's" last effusion, I at once wiped my best pair of spectacles and having carefully adjusted them, proceeded to investigate that very cause; but I find all the boys are natives, and the demand for apprentices in the Eng ish trade is very limited. But Veritas must look up the "Standard" (July 24th) and he will find a vacancy for a lad of twelve! What a solitary example in such a comprehensive subject as immigration. I mentioned it to Foster: he says "one swallow makes no summer". I think he will write to Dick about it: better the boy of ten in the camp was at his book: Dick wants to put "Larry Dollin" to drive a cab with his fellow body coat and corduroy inexpressibles, when the unfortunate man knows no Spanish. You now ask, what made North America a busy hive of trade &c.? The straight-forward and enlightened policy of the Government, by opening up, at one sweep, to the world, the vast and fertile plains, of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, &c.; and if you want to understand the question of Protective Emigration, see the "United States land settlement acts". Thousands of clever trades men died on the roads in Australia, and gentlemen who won degrees of A B at home, were victims also. Would Buenos Aires arise from a similar state of prostration? Mr. Torres has a right to his opinions, but he is clearly an enemy to the inter at of his country. Extensive do not let because sheep pay better at the moment necessary to start a new beginner would buy 1/2 a flock of sheep for him. Buenos Aires imports 3/4th of the wheat consumed, because the land which would produce it is bound up by red tape in the archives of the Government House. Thus I would say, my friend, that I have been to the point long since, and that if you are disposed to moralize on the subject you should not waste your energies "dabbling in suds" or talking of defunct Legislatures, but become convinced that the key to the Buenos Aires is the land, and that if the Government open up those grand camps far beyond the Salado, and expend a few millions (cups) in Irish Emigration, they will at once remove the stumbling block which lies in the path of progress of the Argentine Republic.

VERITAS.

LATEST FROM AUSTRALIA.

The Goldfields.

The quantity of gold brought down by escort during the present year amounts to 337,743 ozs, against 433,-956 ozs, for the corresponding period of last year. There has been a great falling off in the returns from all the diggings, and this is to be accounted for by the extreme dryness of the season. Water is much wanted, and there exist large quantities of auriferous dirt ready to be washed off. There is no doubt that when the rainy season sets in that it will have an important effect on the escort returns. The total shipments of the precious metal during the month of February amounted to 114,362 oz, valued at £187,476, against 77,818 oz. of Victorian gold, valued at £311,272, and 35,537 oz, of New Zealand gold, valued at £137, 149; total £448,420. During the present month 79,437 oz, have been shipped in two vessels, and 30,-000 oz entered at the Customs for shipment to England.

The Otago goldfields still attract many of our Victorian miners, but the rush may be said to be over. A large number of diggers have returned from New Zealand, and as the winter months arrive, a considerable number will return, as that colony is not adapted for mining operations in winter, and the scarcity of timber operates prejudicially against it.

On our goldfields want of water has been the great complaint. The season has been a very dry one, and weeks have passed with nearly a slight shower or two, but not sufficient to cause any good, and to this cause must be attributed the falling off in the returns. There have been no rushes worth mentioning and the miners are steadily engaged in their ordinary occupations. Referring to the scarcity of water at Ballarat, a local journal says:—"There has been, and still is, a great scarcity of water for both mining and domestic purposes, and the loss by stoppage of mining operations has been considerable, and will be found to tell more or less upon our escort returns. A great deal of talk about water supply has been indulged in for a long time past, but as yet no practical benefits have resulted. In quartz mining alone in one division of Ballaarat Proper there were ten engines at work and seventeen idle. A good deal of the "idleness" reported is due, however, to the want of water and it would be interesting to know, as nearly as it could be ascertained, what is the loss to the miner and the public by this drought. We suspect that the aggregate loss is considerable, and would afford a potent argument in aid of a prompt and ample supply of water."

The Koh-i-noor Company at Ballaarat found a nugget a week or two ago weighing 330 ounces, and it has been christened the "Sir Dominic Daly, in honour of the Governor of South Australia. Another nugget of sixty ounces was discovered soon afterwards by the same company. There is literally nothing worth recording from any of the districts.

The pastoral interest, must not be overlocked. This will have its place in the Great Exhibition, and it is in every way fitting that it should have its place here, as it ever must have a place among us as one of our great producing interests. With 5,000,000 of sheep, 700 000 cattle, and 70,000 to 80,000 horses, there must not only be a large investment of capital, but a large amount of surplus produce for export. The 300,000,000 of pounds of wool, and the 60,000,000 of pounds of tallow, sent home from this colony during the last four years, valuable as little less than £20,000,000 sterling to say nothing of hides and skins, or of the live stock consumed and exported, must have had much to do with raising up that fabric of fixed and immoveable property everywhere observable around us, and must have much yet to do with additions to it.

Samples of our wool, and specimens of our tallow, hides, and skins, and of the uses to which they have been turned, will be there exhibited, and the practical and the skilful will have an opportunity of judging for themselves What the judgment? It must be, that the interest which supplies the world with raw products of this description should receive every possible encouragement, and not be in any way unnecessarily depressed.

Much attention has been paid to the growth of tobacco, and the hop and other plants are to be added to our ordinary stock. Improved machinery is being brought much into use, and everything in fact, is now being done, that could really be desired for the promotion of all those branches of industry that draw their support principally from the soil. Confidence is restored, and all that we lack is population, to enable us more fully to extend our operations.

LOCAL EVENTS.

The standard.—On the list of September this paper will be enlarged to the size of the Revista.

Subscription as at present.

The standard Hand-Book.—And directory for the River Plate; our first sheet has already gone to press.

Parties desirous of advertising should lose no time: terms $100 per page.

The work will contain over 200 pages and be ready by the 1st November

Ram Auction.—Yesterday Mr Billinghurst's auction of fine rams and sheep came off. It was well attended, and the animals fetched good prices. 67 were sold, at prices varying from 3000 to 8500 dollars each. The remainder will be sold to-day. Estancieros should be on the ground.

Robbery.—We regret to announce that one of our city M Ds was robbed the other day, of 20,000 dollars. We cannot imagine why a non-mercantile man should keep so much paper-money in his rooms. The suffering doctor is a fellow-countryman, and we are sorry that he has been so terribly bled.

Mars.—Of the Argentine Confederation. Several prints purporting to be so have been lately imported from Europe, most of them being bad copies of Captain Page's surveys.

But we caution the public, against buying what is not a true map of the country, the division of the provinces in these maps is generally bad, and many important places missing, the rivers badly traced and in fact they resemble more Cuthers definition of a cash than any thing else.

Mexican army.—Several officers and private in Individuals have left Montevideo to go to Mexico and take up arms in defence of that country.

Elections.—New ones are to take place on Sunday the 31st instant for the provincial Legislature for the vacancies of

Messrs Francisco Carreras
" Bernabe Saenz Valiente.
" Joaquin Hornos
" Mateo Martinez

who have presented their resignations.

San Juan Schools.—The amount collected already for this object amounts to $ 4995.

Foreign Claims.—The Government has addressed itself officially to the English & French claimants giving six millions of public bonds for their payment.

The Mersey.—Leaves this month for Europe on the 27th instant.

Cotton Seed.—During the last few days we have distributed seed to the following persons.

Mr Owen Lynch Lojan,
" James Hutson Lobos
" Juan M. Gimenez Corrientes
" Sr. J. Martinez Ba. Ayres.
" Don Luis Lagos Montevideo.
" Mr. Bieber Ba. Ayres.
" Don Ignacio Once Setiembre.

Immigrants.—We learn that 19 000 immigrants have landed in Buenos Ayres since the 1st day of January last.

Justification.—The present Government is gradually bringing about the unification of the laws of the Confederation.

During the present month the maritime regulations of the produce of Buenos Ayres, its Custom House law, its Commercial Code and several other subjects of minor importance have been made extensive to the whole nation.

This will prove of the greatest benefit as there was a want of commercial legislation in the republic.

At the same time we have to remark that the two authorities to decide are 1st notices of Buenos Ayres: One is Sr. Acevedo an Oriental; the other Velez Sarsfield a Cordovan Irishman.

Accident.—We hear the lady who fell from a coach in the Retiro on Sunday has suffered a fracture of a leg.
